Part 1. Turn the passage into the past tense. Make any alterations that may be required.
Next weekend I'll take my family to Gardaland. Our youngest child is going to have a lot of fun riding on the merry-go-rounds and the other attractions for the small boys of his age, while Hadrian, who will be 14 on Sunday and Erika, our eldest, are going to try more challenging attractions. I've already booked rooms at a hotel in Peschiera and we are staying there for the night. On Sunday I'd like to go on a boat trip on the lake but we'll go back into the Park because Hadrian wants to celebrate his birthday in one of the restaurants there.
The children will love it, but my wife and I are going to enjoy ourselves, too!
